Benefits of cybersport career

Cybersport is one of the most popular kind of sport. It sounds like something strange and paradoxical, but it is true. A lot of countries have admitted this sport as official one. Therefore, people who play for the any organization have real contracts and salary. That is why a lot of players decide to start a cybersport career. In this essay we will try to explain different benefits of it and show profit from this.

The most promising kind of career in cybersport is player. There are some requirements to become professional one. A person chooses the discipline to play and does it every day. It is parallel to the other kinds of sport. To reach the success, player should devote himself or herself to business. In fact, it does not matter if you are a man or a woman: all are equal and can play to each other. Moreover, people with disabilities and different diseases can play computer games and shows the same level as the others do. For example, Dominik "Black^" Reitmeier is a German professional Dota 2 player. He had a cancer, but despite it he won some prestigious tournaments[1]. Thus, playing every day lets you to improve your skills, and you have a chance to be noticed by the scouting department of the any organization. Showing excellent results and winning competition lets to be signed by it and get paid. Besides getting salary, player have opportunity to travel taking place in different tournament. Now there are a lot of people who wants to organize the tournament. To make more profit it should not be online one and such kind of event calls LAN[2]. The main difference is that players all over the world come to play on the big stage and many people buy gaming souvenirs and tickets to see the popular sportsman[3]. In addition, starting cybersport career lets person to improve English skills, because a lot of players from different counties to communicate with the others use this language. Besides that, a lot of success players become popular enough. Therefore, they have a lot of followers in Instagram, TikTok, YouTube, Twitch, Twitter and etc. Obviously, that it is an additional opportunity to make money and can be source of income after career of player.

As in any other sport, sooner or later a sportsman decides to end his career. However, the habit of playing can take a different form. One of famous ex-player League of Legend Mike Diver wrote in his book “How to Be a Professional Gamer”: “When you have reached the top, it is very difficult to stay there, because for this you need to be a creative innovator, generate new ideas. But whoever you play with, your opponents will learn a lot from you, so if you are not careful, sooner or later they will catch up with you. So, it's not easy, and besides, you don't have to reveal your professional secrets.” He means that the level of players stars to be higher and higher every year, and once strong player doesn’t look like himself some years ago. That’s why a lot of players starts inactive ones. It is noteworthy that many cyber players, leaving virtual games, start playing cards. In particular, among the poker players, you can find a lot of former cyber-sportsmen. However, part of them start the coach or analyst career. It sounds like something understandable but there are a lot of such cases. But what is the role of them[4]? Of course, coach gives his own knowledge to the team, prepares tactics to the any opponents and etc. He or she takes a place a different media events and interviews, so it makes more popular social sites. Besides that, coach has real salary that can reach some thousand dollars per year. The other branch of development and starting career is analyst or commentator. Both of the above are media type of career and have salary. Moreover, there are opportunities to travel to comments or analyze games on different LAN tournaments. However, there are people who like to sit at home and just play games. Thus, former players can become streamers on Twitch or YouTube. They just demonstrate the screen of the computer and shows how they play the match. A lot of viewers prefer to watch ex-professional players or professional ones to know something interesting, learn micro tricks and etc. Therefore, it will be quite popular event and it is another opportunity to make money[5].

In addition, a lot of depressed people become happier starting cybersport career. Whether you are a team player or a staunch single player, computer games expand your living space and help you find friends in different countries. It helps person to start communicating with people and stop scaring of society.

To conclude, cybersport career is one of the most perspective one. Choosing it lets people earn a lot of money, travel and improve language skills. There are different opportunities to continue the career not to stay hungry in years. Cybersport career intertwines person's lives all over the world and lets you to make new friends.

References

1. Kellen Beck: This 'Dota' player's life was hit hard hard by cancer and his story is inspiring. (2017) - https://mashable.com/2017/04/28/dota-2-black-inspiring/
2. Wikipedia, The Free Encyclopedia: Esports. pp, 9, (2021) - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Esports#Local_area_network
3. Profguid: Cybersportsman. pp. 1-2, (2020) - https://www.profguide.io/professions/Kibersportsmen.html
4. Match TV, Roman Shevchenko: Why do coaches need in cybersport. pp, 2-4, (2016) - https://matchtv.ru/cyber/matchtvnews_NI680996_Zachem_v_kibersporte_nuzhny_trenery
5. British Esports Association: Getting a career in esports. pp, 1-3, (2020) - https://britishesports.org/news/getting-a-career-in-esports-what-you-need-to-know-how-to-get-started/